Machine Keeps Child Alive For 11 Days

LONDON (UPI)—The Lancet, a medical journal, reported yesterday that a seven-year-old girl was saved from death recently by an electric "brain" machine which kept her heart beating for 11 days.

Now, 10 weeks later, the girl is "very well and has no unpleasant symptoms," The Lancet said.

Surgeons attached the "artificial pacemaker" to the girl's heart when it failed to resume a normal beat after they had closed a hole between its right and left ventricles.

Regularly spaced electrical impulses, taking the place of those that should have been coming from the girl's own brain, induced spasms which kept the heart pumping blood.

The pacemaker was attached to the heart by wires leading out through the flesh of the girl's chest.

Eleven days after the operation, the electric brain was disconnected. After the girl's heart had been operating normally for three weeks, a doctor pulled the wires out of her heart, and a week later she went home.

Favorite Prayer Recited By Adlai Stevenson

CHICAGO (NANA)—As part of the season of Lent, two-time U.S. presidential candidate and former Illinois governor Adlai Stevenson recited his favorite prayer for a reporter:

"Lord, make me an instrument of Thy peace; where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; and where there is sadness, joy.

O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console; to be understood, as to understand; to be loved, as to love; for it is in giving that we receive, it is in pardoning that we are pardoned, and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life."

—St. Francis of Assisi.
